

NAATSHO 2020 Conference Vendor/Sponsorship Opportunity

August 30 – September 3, 2020

The Washington State Department of Transportation, (WSDOT) is excited to host this year's North American Association of Transportation Safety & Health Officials, (NAATSHO) national conference – its 53rd Anniversary! Preparations are underway for this great learning and collaborative event centered on safety for transportation workers in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Changing safety cultures from a “have to”, to a “want to” outlook is one of the things that we strive for. We continue to work toward promoting and improving the effectiveness and efficiency of occupational safety and health programs, and your support role is critical to this effort.

NAATSHO is an association for workplace safety professionals in the United States, Canada and Mexico. Each safety professional and the department of transportation they represent has unique ideas, programs and practices that are shared at the annual NAATSHO conference, making this event valuable and well attended.

Your participation as a vendor and sponsor allows you to access and support these safety professionals with the similar goal - ensuring the safety and health of the transportation workforce. Along with learning opportunities and interactive sessions, there are several opportunities to network and share ideas during the four-day conference.

For 2020 the conference is located at the Skamania Lodge in Skamania County WA, with some of the most scenic and diverse landscapes in the world, from the forest ridges and ravines of the Cascade Mountains to the north shore of the Columbia River. A 50 minute drive from Vancouver WA and Portland OR.

We look forward to your sponsorship and seeing you in Skamania.

Sincerely,

Todd Dowler
Deputy Director
